Joshua Matthew Darst, 31, of Hodgenville, a six-year veteran of the department, was charged April 18 with first-degree official misconduct, a misdemeanor; theft by unlawful taking – auto, and tampering with physical evidence, both Class D felonies, according to a news release by Kentucky State Police.

Darst was lodged in the LaRue County Detention Center about 2:34 p.m. He was released on a $25,000 unsecured bond by 4:30 p.m.

According to Trooper Norman Chaffins, public affairs officer for Post 4, Sheriff Bobby Shoffner lodged the complaint with KSP in March.

“Once the sheriff’s department found out about the situation, we contacted KSP,” said Chief Deputy Russell McCoy. “In an internal situation, we don’t need to be involved in the investigation.”

Darst is accused with recovering a stolen motorcycle “with the

LCHS Rocket Club flying to national competition

By LINDA IRELAND

LaRue County High School has a long history of outstanding sports and academic teams.

The school now has a championship rocket club.

The first year LCHS Rocket Corps placed in the top-100 of 680 teams competing in the Team America Rocketry Challenge, winning a bid to a national contest in May in Washington, D.C.

The team is composed of five seniors, Jonathan Firquin, Shan Lin, Tyler Higginson, Nathaniel Schaefer and Zachary Lee; and four juniors, Ryan Hornback, Caleb Canter, Brandon Henning and Tyler Skaggs. Senior Nick Paden is assisting the club with fundraising.

The all-men club, all students in Rex Hanson’s physics class, dubbed their rocket “Testosterone to the 10th.”

Hornback, the team captain, came across information about the competition and suggested the class tackle it.

Hanson asked for the required nine volunteers, informed them they would need to come up with $115 for fees and supplies and watched them go to work.

Hanson’s role was to “order supplies and organize things to keep them on schedule.”

“I’ve been truly impressed by how well they work together and

A former LaRue County deputy jailer is facing charges of promoting contraband at the jail.

Ramona Young, 33, of Hodgenville has been charged with first-degree official misconduct and second-degree promoting contraband after allegedly providing tobacco products to an inmate, according to Hodgenville City Police Chief Steve Johnson.

Two inmates, Charles Corcoran, 26, of Virginia, and Jeffrey Purdam, 34, of Magnolia, are facing related charges, Johnson said.

However, Purdam’s charges do not appear to be related to those of Corcoran’s and Young’s.

Committee teacher representatives Todd Rogers, Carlene Gibson and Pam Glaab, with parent representatives Farrah Pruitt and Summer Garriss were impressed with the quality of the 23 applicants who applied for the position, according to Sanders.

“This SBDM worked really hard at selecting the right principal,” Sanders said. “I believe when you look at the criteria the staff, parents, and community wanted in a principal, Ms. Downs was a good choice.”

Wesley Meadows’ time capsule reveals history of three churches

By CANDIS CARPENTER
Staff Writer

Nearly 50 years have passed since Wesley Meadows United Methodist Church opened its doors.

The church has seen a number of changes over the years, including new members, stained glass windows and most recently a pair of wheel chair ramps that led to a surprise discovery.

For almost 50 years, a non-documented time capsule has been enclosed into the front, right side wall of the church. Hidden by a marker, noted only by the year of establishment, 1962, the find came as a complete surprise for the congregation during the installation of a new wheelchair ramp three weeks ago.

“What we are trying to do is get this building 100 percent handicapped accessible,” said Wesley Meadows pastor Brother Wallace Votaw.

Recycling center sustained by community support

Renaissance Recycling, LaRue County's recycling center, is part 9 of a series providing an in-depth look at LaRue County

By CANDIS CARPENTER
Staff Writer

When recycling comes to mind, people often think about a neat and clean environment filled with organized storage containers for collection. However, that's not always the case. Often overlooked is the not-so-clean side of things such as sorting, organizing, banding and shipping the products after processing.

In 2011, LaRue County's recycling center, better known as Renaissance Recycling, collected more than 500 tons of recyclable material and distributed it to select facilities across the state.

Working off a small employee base, and labor from the LaRue County Detention Center inmates, the center manages fairly well in their small area that was once home to the Hodgenville Water Treatment Plant in the 1960s.

The vision for the center came to light when current LaRue County Solid Waste Coordinator Jill Gray attended a solid waste meeting in 2004.

"I came back really excited and pumped," said Gray, who had a dream of moving the recycling program out of the LaRue County Maintenance Barn and away from contracted haulers.

The meeting included information on how to obtain donated equipment in order to operate a fully functional recycling center.

"I was so excited," said Gray, "I immediately went to (LaRue County Judge/Executive Tommy Turner)."

Turner advised Gray to move forward with getting the equipment and the search began to find a suitable building.

At that time, former Hodgenville Mayor Roger Pruitt entered the picture and offered a city building for use. The old water plant, which had been vacant for several years, needed some care and cleanup, but was gladly accepted. In July 2005, work began to prep the building.

"We had to go through some procedures to insure it was suitable ... and had to change some things, but for the most part it checked out just fine," said Gray.

In January 2006 the recycling center held their grand opening celebration.

Since the relocation Gray has noted an increase in recycling by LaRue residents.

"We went from 52 tons the first year, to over 500 tons now," said Gray.

It has been highly publicized that the benefits of recycling include less pollution and a better environment, but what people may not know is that it is a cost saver.

"The more we recycle the less amount of money your going to spend on your trash services," said Gray.

"The more times that trash companies have to come to your house and the more waste they have to pick up the rates would eventually get higher," she explained.

According to Gray, the cost for putting debris in the landfill is $30 per ton.

"Put it like this," said Gray, "take 500 tons and multiply that by $30. That would be the charge for going to a landfill ... that's about how much money was saved by recycling this past year alone."

Gray explained that even though a lot can be recycled out of the center, there are some limitations.

"We have to recycle by volume," said Gray. "Some things we would never get enough of to create a load, so we just can't take it."

Plastics are not always accepted.

"Even though all plastic is recyclable, we can't accept all kinds here ... we just don't have enough room to store it all."

Plastics with the resin codes one through seven are gladly accepted. Resin codes are located in what looks a triangle connected by three arrows, explained Gray.

Other items commonly accepted include non-waxed cardboard, electronics (excluding non-working televisions, newspaper, copy paper books, tin cans, ink cartridges and glassware. No foam is accepted, other than Styrofoam.

Items not accepted include plastic wrappers, such as bread, hot-dog or toilet paper wrappings, vinyl siding, plastics with resin codes other than one through seven and plastic without resin codes.

"There are some things that we can take, but only on special circumstances," said Gray. "For example, if it is something that we typically don't take, like vinyl siding, and someone has a whole semi load of it to get rid of, we may be able to do that ... they would just have to call and see."

Gray hopes to one day be able to offer the ability to recycle more items. "We need more space to do that," said Gray. "I would like for one day to see it at that point."

The recycling center offers curbside service during regular business hours, which run 9 a.m.-3:30 p.m. Monday through Friday and 24-hour drop off access through windows at the front of the building.

"If it doesn't fit in a window, you cannot leave it without someone being there," said Gray. "So for bulky items be sure to call ahead."

Curtis O'Dell is beginning a hike from his former home in Knoxville, Tenn. back to his home in Hodgenville. The 72-year-old says he 'just enjoys life.'

Man begins 235-mile walk from Knoxville

By LINDA IRELAND
Editor

Curtis O'Dell is a well-known figure around town, with his neatly-groomed handlebar mustache and a penchant for hiking five miles every day with the aid of a very long aspen walking staff.

His favorite route begins at his home on Forresta Court, loops around downtown, around Creekfront Park to Lincoln Parkway and back home by way of Lincoln Boulevard. It's exactly 5.2 miles. He carries a backpack filled with about 30 pounds of sand to help him build endurance.

He enjoys the exercise but more than that, it has been preparing him for a longer trek.

The 72-year-old plans to drive to his hometown of Knoxville, Tenn. later this week and walk home. It's a distance of about 235 miles.

He will be taking backroads most of the way, particularly Hwy. 127. He's not sure how long it will take him to walk home — probably about two-and-a-half weeks.

"It's a lot slower walking when you're on a two-lane road and have to keep hitting the ditch (when cars pass)," he said.

Instead of sand, he'll carry a cell phone, a small box of cereal and a jar of peanut butter in a backpack. He hopes there will be plenty of restaurants or small stores along the way, but he won't go hungry if there isn't. And he plans to check in with family often.

"I'll be sleeping in a tent whenever I find a place to put it and will be living out of a backpack," said O'Dell.

O'Dell said he has always enjoyed his life and doesn't let age get in the way of that enjoyment. He worked as an X-ray technologist for 47 years and earned the title of Master Gardener a few years ago.

He's also a Christian who enjoys "participating in, not just attending" church. He credits God for his good health.

"Getting old doesn't bother me," he said. "It's inevitable."

He hopes the drivers he meets on his walk will be as courteous as the ones he's encountered in LaRue County.

"I appreciate drivers who stop and motion me on," he said.

The LaRue County Herald News will update O'Dell's journey at www.laruecountyherald.com.

Businessman files suit against Clayton Homes

By CHRIS MORRIS
Courtesy of News and Tribune

NEW ALBANY, IND. - Kevin Carroll has taken his fight with Clayton Homes to federal court.

Carroll's attorney, Ed Skees, has confirmed his client filed a lawsuit seeking damages from Clayton Homes in the amount of $5 million. The lawsuit was filed in Floyd County Circuit Court before being moved to federal court.

Carroll, who owned Carroll's Mobile Homes Inc. in Georgetown before losing the business to his supplier, Clayton Homes, said the $5 million includes damages, his business and land.

"They can make it right," Carroll said. "They can make this all go away. I am not going to stop until I get my business back."

"My attorney says it's not if we win, but when we win. I have the truth on my side."

Skees said he is confident his client can prevail if the case goes to trial. He said it will take several months to gather all the testimony and evidence before proceeding to court. He also said Carroll would be open to an out-of-court settlement.

"He lost a business he was very successful in and I wouldn't have taken this case if I didn't think it was winnable," said Skees, a Louisville-based attorney.

Carroll said he was selling homes in a 100-mile radius at his Georgetown facility, and was going strong even during a slow economy. In fact, he said Clayton, which is based in Knoxville, Tenn., built a plant in Hodgenville to help supply his demand and to build homes with "a northern" look.

But in the fall of 2008, everything went south — and Carroll said it had nothing to do with the economy or his business skills. He said it was all about greed.

Carroll said the problems began with a simple phone call in 2008 to Kevin Clayton, president of Clayton Homes. Carroll said he told Clayton he was looking to downsize his business, and buy out his partners, which included his brother and ex-wife. He said at the time he had $2 million in Hodgenville inventory on his lot.

He said he mailed certain financial documents to Clayton, and he received a call Oct. 1, 2008, to inform him his business loan was approved. He said he only asked for advice, but accepted the loan to help him pay off his partners and put money back into his business.

Two weeks later, he was informed the Hodgenville plant was closing. And since he was sitting on $2 million in inventory, with no hope for replacement parts once the plant closed, he said he was "dead in the water."

He insists the entire transaction was an "inside job" to gain control of his business. He said he eventually lost his company since he had no way of selling homes which were not finished and had no hope of getting parts.

Kevin Clayton contends he had no idea the Hodgenville plant was going to close after he lent money to Carroll. He also said Carroll could have continued to buy products from one of the other eight manufacturing locations.

"Ultimately, our manufacturing group made the decision to close the Hodgenville facility," he said in a previous interview. "Shortly after that he asked if we would be interested in buying his business. We eventually did that and it paid off his debt ... his business loan."

"It's a very serious thing [to close a manufacturing facility]. I didn't know we were going to close down that particular facility. Everyone knows how bad the economy was."

Dispose of old prescriptions on 'take-back' day April 28

By CANDIS CARPENTER
Staff Writer

In an effort to reduce the abuse of prescription drugs, the LaRue County Sheriff's Department, in conjunction with the LaRue County Solid Waste Department and the Drug Enforcement Administration, will be hosting a prescription drug "Take-Back" day.

The event will be held 10 a.m.- 2 p.m. April 28 in the lower lot of the courthouse.

According to the most recent National Survey on Drug Use and Health, 6.4 million Americans abused prescription drugs in 2005, compared with 3.8 million in 2000. This is a 68 percent increase in just five years.

At the last prescription drug take-back day, held in November 2011, LaRue Countians turned in 42 pounds of prescription medication, according to LaRue County Solid Waste Coordinator Jill Gray.

"Each time we are seeing an increased turnout," said Gray, "but this is only the third time it has been held here in the county."

Residents are encouraged to bring out their outdated or unused prescription medications. Injectibles and syringes will not be accepted.

Studies show that a majority of abused prescription drugs are obtained from family and friends.

According to Gray, there has been some confusion on the proper disposal methods for prescription medication in between disposal drives.

"Pharmacists used to tell people to flush it and that is the worst possible thing," said

Gray. "What people should really do is grind it up and mix it with coffee grounds to be put in the trash ... this eliminates the possibility of abusers getting to these drugs."

Four days after the first event, Congress passed the Secure and Responsible Drug Disposal Act of 2010, which amends the Controlled Substances Act to allow an "ultimate user" of controlled substance medications to dispose of them by delivering them to entities authorized by the Attorney General to accept them.

Until new regulations are in place, local law enforcement agencies will continue to hold prescription drug take-back events every few months.

For more information about take-back day visit www.dea.gov.

Three Relay for Life teams share histories, background

As a part of our community's preparation for LaRue County's Relay for Life event on May 11-12 at Hodgenville Elementary School, the local Relay for Life Committee is recognizing individual cancer survivors and the teams who are raising funds for the event.

Organized as a team in 2009, the Veirs Crew Keeping the Faith" Relay for Life Team does not represent a business or church group. What makes this team unique is that it is a family team put together to support the late Roy Veirs who was diagnosed with a carcinoid tumor in 2006. Though Veirs lost his battle to cancer in November 2009, his wife and daughters, Beverly Veirs, Amanda Bales and Melissa Williamson, have kept the faith as their team name suggests by continuing to Relay with a 15-member team and serving on the Relay for Life County Committee as luminaire chairs.

The group began their fundraising efforts early in the Relay calendar year by hosting their annual chili supper at Mount Tabor Baptist Church. Other successful fundraising events for the group were Valentine Day grams, their team luminaire sale, a Mr. Gatti's Night, the countywide roadblock and several car washes. Their team is also credited for the Purple Bow Mailbox campaign that is currently underway to bring cancer and Relay awareness to LaRue County.

When asked why the group supports Relay, all the team members noted not only Roy Veirs as a reason, but other family members that had lost their battle to the disease including Carolyn Martinette, an aunt, and Beverly's mother. Member Nathan Bales said, "I've experienced first-hand being close to someone battling cancer. After seeing him be so brave and strong despite all he was going through, I decided to Relay. It was just the right thing to do."

Veirs also pointed out that Relay funds were so important during her husband's clinical trials. The pair was away from home for several days at a time and these funds took care of their lodging expenses, something not covered by insurance.

Submitted photo

The Veirs Team had a float in the annual Lincoln Days Parade.

"I would like to think I had a part in helping someone out in a trying time or even a cure for cancer," said Veirs.

With Relay just around the corner, the group has one more car wash on May 5 and a fundraiser planned for Relay Night as they aim toward their goal of $3,500 for this year.

Another LaRue County Relay for Life Team making a statement to conquer cancer is Nationwide's Circle of Friends. The team led by Regina Childress, is made up of 15 official team members.

This team began about 14 years ago after Lois Smith, who worked at the factory at the time, told her co-workers about the past weekend's Relay. She motivated the group to have a team and they raised about $3,000 their first year. Since then their efforts have ranged from between $6,000 to $1,500 each year, but they are still together.

Fundraisers for the team included a dinner at work, decorating Christmas trees in each department and selling drinks and snacks at break times. The group also participated in the county roadblock on April 7.

Team captain Regina Childress relays in honor of her father and father-in-law who lost their battles to cancer.

"Today's technology would have saved my father if he were alive today," said Childress who also serves a county Relay chair.

Daughter Nicole, 14, is also an avid Relayer. She feels that through her work, that doctors may be soon be able to find a cure.

Co-workers Rachel Phillips and Glenda Lawler also became involved to honor family members. Phillips lost her father to cancer some six years ago and hopes a cure is found so that no one will ever have to endure what he did during his two year battle. Lawler's mother and father succumbed to cancer, but she also wanted to remember those family members who won their fight against the disease.

A third team, Freedom Angels, is chaired by Childress' sister, Rosetta Lafollette, who is also the county activity chair. This team also organized about 14 years ago and listed 12 members on their official roster. Their goal is $1,500 for Relay and they listed car washes, craft sales, a roadblock, bake sales and calendars as their main fundraising events.

Lafollette said she became interested in Relay when she was invited to a luminaire ceremony to honor her father.

Her team still has six of the original 22 members and includes people from Vine Grove, Radcliff, Elizabethtown, Hodgenville and Union Christian Church. Many could join the Hardin County Relay, but prefer the closeness of the LaRue County event.

A unique part of the Freedom Angels Team is the contribution of a senior citizen in Ohio. This mother of a team member saves her pennies all year for the cause and sends them in time for Relay each year.

"For a woman on a fixed income, this is a huge contribution," said Lafollette.

LEGISLATIVE UPDATE

Special session one and done

The 2012 Special Session came and went this past week, as both chambers were able to approve both a budget for Kentucky's transportation needs and legislation to combat so-called 'pill mills' in the Commonwealth.

House Bill 2 was essentially the agreed upon version of the transportation budget bill in the 2012 Regular Session, House Bill 266. The $4.5 billion budget will pay for road construction projects in various phases, from planning and design to those that are ready to be built. This bill was held up on the final day of the Regular Session because of a disagreement between the leader of the Senate and the Governor over approval of House Bill 267, which lays out the construction phase of Kentucky's highways in the coming two years.

House Bill 1, which was the other bill under consideration in the Special Session, seeks to make several changes in the medical community to combat those who place profits above patients by handing out large prescriptions of controlled drugs like OxyContin. House Bill 1 in the Special Session was the original version filed as House Bill 4 in the 2012 Regular Session. However the Senate filed a committee substitute that put in place many of the revisions agreed upon by the conference committee. The Senate also changed the funding source from a fee that would be paid by all doctors to funds from the mortgage settlement agreement that Kentucky will receive from the multi-state settlement. Hopefully this bill will solve many of the problems we have in relation to prescription drugs without adding additional costs on the legitimate doctors that are vital to our communities.

While much has been made in the media about why we were called back in Special Session, it is critical that we now look forward instead of arguing over the issues that forced us back to work in Frankfort. It is my sincere hope that lessons have been learned by all sides, and that we can place personalities and partisanship aside for the betterment of Kentucky. Finger pointing and name calling is not the way we should do business; otherwise we will once again have failed leadership in the Kentucky State Capitol.

As always, I welcome your comments and concerns about any issues facing our Commonwealth. I can be reached on my cell phone at 270-597-6049 or through the toll-free message line in Frankfort at 1-800-372-7181. New Haven water bills increase, flooding study planned for Rolling Fork River

LANDMARK NEWS SERVICE

Members of the New Haven Board of Commissioners met Thursday evening. The board passed the second reading of an ordinance to increase water rates for in-city and out-of-city customers.

The council voted to increase water rates for next fiscal year beginning in July from a minimum usage rate of $17.66 to $18.01. Sewer rates will remain at 100 percent of the water charge. For out-of-city customers who use water services, minimum rates will go from $18.61 to $18.98. The rate increase was adopted in order to allow for inflation and rising expenses of operations and maintenance on the systems.

Commissioner Jeff Rogers and Public Works Superintendent Tim Bartley will work on advertising to sell surplus property deemed by the council to be too costly to retain. Three vehicles – a 1985 bucket truck, a 1978 van and a trolley - will be sold. The commission determined that they were not used enough to warrant the cost of upkeep and insurance. The commissioners will look into obtaining a smaller bucket truck that would be more cost-effective and small enough to be housed in a garage.

Bryan Hurst, New Haven Middle School football coach, approached the commission to ask permission to install some fencing around the football field, which is owned and operated by the city. Some of the fencing would come from donated material.

Hurst said that four-wheelers and other vehicles have come onto the field and caused damage and they simply didn't have enough funding to make all necessary repairs. He said in order to completely revamp the field for irrigation and the proper grade would cost more than $12,000 and with limited funds, he would only be able to do repair work incrementally each year.

Johnson was authorized by the commissioners to sign an agreement with the Army Corps of Engineers to sponsor a feasibility study on flooding from the Rolling Fork River. Federal dollars would pay for the study up to a $100,000 limit and after that would be conducted with a city match. Johnson does not anticipate it reaching that level. Work would begin within 18 to 24 months after funding is approved.

The city granted a permit to Lewis Enterprises, Hodgenville, to sell fireworks at Sims Park from June 22 to July 5 of this year at a rental cost of $450. The city also approved allowing a proposed kickball league to be formed at the park with revenues coming to the city. Kickball is similar to baseball, with no bat used, just legs.

City Clerk Linda Mattingly was not able to attend the meeting as she was out of town at a training class for the week.

Farmer's Market has May 4 opening

By CANDIS CARPENTER
Staff Writer

Beginning Friday, May 4, LaRue County residents and passersby will be able to enjoy the homegrown goodness of products from the annual LaRue County Farmer's Market.

The market will run from May to September and will be open 2-5:30 p.m. Tuesdays and Fridays at the LaRue County Extension Service parking area.

According to Abby Tate, Expanded Food and Nutrition Education Program Assistant at the U.K. Extension Office in LaRue County, vendor attendance has grown this year, up five from last year's seven vendors.

"Each year has shown a consistent increase in customer and vendor participation," said Tate in an email.

The mission, "To have a sustainable market that will serve and support the farmer and their community," has been an ongoing goal since the program began in 2008.

"The farm's market serves two purposes in the community," said vendor Joanna Hinton of Hinton's orchard. "First, it provides an income opportunity for small farmers to make a direct contact with consumers to sell their products. Secondly, it provides an opportunity for the larger community to connect to their food source."

"An increasing number of families do not grow their own food, so the farmer's market allows both young and old to have a direct connection to where their food comes from," added Hinton.

Early on in the market there will be bedding plants, flowers, homemade foods, asparagus, strawberries and lettuces.

In the summertime there will be tomatoes, sweet corn, squash, melons, onions, potatoes, peaches, peppers, local beef and goat and homemade food items.

The Extension Office is expecting some new and returning events to be held in conjunction with the market, including cooking classes every other Friday and the second annual Taste of LaRue County in June.

The market fees are $50 for the season. If anyone is interested in becoming a member contact Abby Tate at the Extension Office at 270-358-3401 or email amtate2@uky.edu.

LANDMARK NEWS SERVICE

A Bardstown man is suspected of forging thousands of dollars in checks and selling jewelry from a Hodgenville burglary.

Stuart Brent Kirtley, 30, was arrested Tuesday, April 16 after a Cox's Creek man complained his checkbook had been stolen the day before.

According to a press release, Bardstown Police discovered that 12 checks had been forged. Eleven were cashed for a total of $4,255.

Bardstown Police recovered the stolen checkbook.

But in the course of their investigation, they discovered Kirtley may have been connected with a second theft.

Is your conscience expandable?

Your word have I hidden in my heart that I might not sin. Psalm 119:11

Ever hear of a pitcher plant?

It attracts insects with its bright colors. Once inside, the insects lose their footing and slide down a sugarcoated tube into a liquid that drowns them.

Satan does that too. He sugarcoats the way to ruin and before you know it, you're hooked.

Adam Clark worked in a store selling silk. One day his boss suggested he stretch the silk as he measured it. This would increase profits and Adam's value to the company. He refused.

Clark told his boss, "Your silk may stretch but my conscience won't."

Woman's Wisdom

Shirley Jones

Nixon aide Jeb Magruder, commenting on the Watergate scandal, said, "We conned ourselves into thinking we weren't doing anything wrong and by the time we were doing things that were illegal, we'd lost control."

The book, "The Day American Told the Truth," reports that 91 percent of those interviewed lie regularly and 70 percent believe there are "no absolutes" when it comes to good and evil.

God says: "Don't move back the boundary lines" in Proverbs 22:28.

Why? Because they're there for your protection.

Paul writes, "Hold fast that which is good" in I Thessalonians 5:21 because right's right, even when everybody's against it, and wrong's wrong, even when everybody's for it.

After fasting 40 days, Jesus was tempted by Satan.

Satan said, "Change these stones into ... bread" Matthew 4:3.

Now eating's OK when you're hungry but following the devil's suggestion is not. So while Satan twisted the scripture to justify sin, Jesus used it to withstand him. And you can do that too.

Developing good qualities takes time

"But the fruit of the spirit is love, joy, peace, patience, kindness, goodness, faithfulness, gentleness, self-control ..." (Galatians 5:22). How do we get these character qualities? God does not one day zap us. There is a process.

God has a part and we have a part in the process. In a physical workout you develop or tone the muscles God has given you. Paul urges us to cultivate our spiritual lives. God provides the power. The first tool God uses in changing us is the Bible. If you want to change your life, you are going to have to get into the Bible – read it, study it, memorize it, meditate on it and apply it. We cannot expect to grow spiritually without the word of God.

The second tool God uses to change us is the Holy Spirit. When we commit ourselves to Christ the Holy Spirit comes into our lives too empower and direct us. As God's spirit works in us we become more and more like him.

We have a part in this process of change. First is our thoughts. We choose our thoughts. We choose what we think about. Proverbs 4:23 says, "Be careful how

Park celebrates Junior Ranger Day Wednesday

Celebrating the theme, "Picture Yourself in a National Park," National Park Week will run through Sunday, April 29. Throughout the country, visitors can enjoy the beauty and wonder of 84 million acres of the world's most spectacular scenery, historic places and cultural treasures for free.

National parks will mark the annual celebration with special events and activities including Junior Ranger Day on April 28. From ranger-led hikes and kayak trips to camping and exploring, park visitors can plan their National Park Week at www.nationalparkweek.org. Discover information about events, special activities for visitors of all ages, how to share your park adventure with other travelers, and how to support the parks.

"America's national parks have something for everyone," said National Park Service Director Jonathan B. Jarvis. "Take a break and experience something new, enjoy some fresh air, get some exercise, and see where history happened. And, since admission is free to all 397 parks, all week long, National Park Week is a great time to get up, get out, and explore a park."

Kids interested in becoming Junior Rangers can visit

Abraham Lincoln Birthplace to participate in the park's Junior Ranger program available every day.

The park will host a special Junior Ranger Program on April 28, called Junior Firefighter Program. Four sessions will take place in the park picnic area on the east side of highway 31E. The sessions will be held at 9:30 a.m., 11 a.m., 2 p.m. and 3:30 p.m. and will last about one hour. After participating in the ranger led program, kids will receive a certificate and patch.

For more information, call the Park at 358-3137.

LaRue County Schools awarded VISTA associate

Christopher Wilborn, Executive Director of United Way of Central Kentucky, has announced that the organization has secured a grant to bring six AmeriCorps VISTA (Volunteer in Service to America) Summer Associates to local non-profits for a 10-week term of service. One of these full-time positions will involve work in LaRue County through an ongoing partnership with LaRue County Schools.

An AmeriCorps VISTA will be hired to work with children at academic enrichment camps and a childcare facility serving primarily low income and at-risk children. The VISTA will create and implement a literacy based mini-camp for children incorporating family involvement activities to enhance parental involvement in the education of their children. The VISTA will also plan parent involvement activities for program staff to administer during the school year.

Interested applicants can find job postings and submit applications via the My AmeriCorps website at <https://my.americorps.gov>. Application deadlines vary by site.

United Way of Central Kentucky has coordinated dozens of AmeriCorps members since 2007 in an effort to fight poverty and improve the quality of life in our community.

Last year, 18 federally-funded AmeriCorps VISTAs had an $897,064 economic impact in United Way's service area of Hardin, Grayson, LaRue, Breckinridge, and Meade Counties. In 2011 AmeriCorps VISTAs devoted more than 32,265 hours of service to understaffed nonprofits, recruited 833 volunteers, and raised $251,764 in donations.

For more information on United Way of Central Kentucky or the AmeriCorps VISTA program, contact Megan Stith, VISTA Supervisor at 737-6608 or visit www.unitedwayck.org.

Do you control your tongue?

How good are you in controlling your tongue?

The tongue is a flame of fire. It is full of wickedness that can ruin your whole life. It can turn the entire course of your life into a blazing flame of destruction, for it is set on fire by hell itself. (James 3:6)

The words we say to others have the power to tear down or to build up.

Learn to control the terrible power of the tongue. What we speak discloses the thoughts of a person and makes it clear whether they are controlled by self-will or by God's will. Where there is a divine (god-like) life it displays itself; not only in what a person says, but in their actions.

Bitterness and contention (discord) arises out of the carnal nature of man.

What causes a person to speak mean words to another? Could it be by demeaning someone it gives the offender feelings of power and control?

"But those things which proceed out of the mouth come forth from the heart, and they defile the man." (Matthew 15:11) The Gospel teaches men to be gentle and holy. Righteousness that is born of peace, does not excuse sin. The tongue is a favorite weapon of Satan. We should always think before we speak, because words that are spoken in anger; spiteful, hurtful words can never be taken back. "A time to keep silence, And a time to speak." (Ecclesiastes 3:7)

"Death and life are in the power of the tongue, and those who love it will eat its fruit." (Proverbs 18:21) you think; your life is shaped by your thoughts." Someone said, "You're not what you think you are, but what you think, you are." So if you want to change your actions you must change the way you think.

Then we must depend on his spirit. God gives us power through his Holy Spirit. As the branch is dependent upon the main vine so we are dependent upon the spirit. We cannot

As God produces the fruit of the spirit in our lives remember it takes times to ripen fruit. There is no such thing as instant maturity and instant spiritual growth. God needs time to ripen the fruit in your life.

Programs vary from short-term up to two years and are available for high-skill, high-demand occupations in fields such as health care, computer and information technology, advanced manufacturing and new automotive. Financial assistance is available for those who qualify.

"These training opportunities are a great way for job-seekers to enhance their proficiency in occupations in high-demand industries that are hiring and expanding throughout the Lincoln Trail Region," said Jackie Masterson, Employment and Training Specialist at the Lincoln Trail Area Development District.

The Lincoln Trail Career Centers also offer financial assistance to businesses for training new employees through an on-the-job training program. This program encourages newly hired employees

This up-and-down weather is killing me, one day you don't need a coat and the next three days you almost need a overcoat.

Jobless rate down for year

Annual unemployment rates were lower in 105 Kentucky counties in 2011 than in 2010, according to the Kentucky Office of Employment and Training in the Kentucky Education and Workforce Development Cabinet.

In addition, 14 Kentucky counties had a higher annual unemployment in 2011 than in 2010 while the unemployment rate in Laurel County remained the same for both years.

LaRue County's rate was 8.6 percent. Of a 6,983 average labor force, 6,382 people were employed.

The Elizabethtown

Metro Statistical Area, which includes LaRue County, was 8.9 percent.

In 2011, 63 Kentucky counties had an annual jobless rate at or above 10 percent compared to 86 counties that recorded double-digit rates in 2010.

The annual jobless rate for Woodford County was the lowest in the Commonwealth in 2011 at 7.3 percent. The other counties with the 10 lowest unemployment rates were Fayette County, 7.4 percent; Oldham County, 7.6 percent; Madison County, 7.7 percent; Calloway, Hopkins and Ohio counties, 8.0 percent each; followed by Boone, Franklin, Union and Webster counties, 8.1 percent each.

Magoffin County recorded the state's highest annual unemployment rate in 2011 — 16.6 percent. It was followed by Jackson County, 16.2 percent; Menifee County, 15.2 percent; Fulton and McCreary counties, 14.6 percent each; Lewis County, 13.8 percent; Clay County, 13.7 percent; Wayne and Wolfe counties, 13.6 percent each; and Bell County, 13.2 percent.

The U.S. comparable rate was 8.9 percent.

Unemployment statistics are based on estimates and are compiled to measure trends rather than actually to count people working. Civilian labor force statistics include non-military workers and unemployed Kentuckians who are actively seeking work. They do not include unemployed Kentuckians who have not looked for employment within the past four weeks. The statistics in this news release are not seasonally adjusted to allow for comparisons between United States, state and counties figures.

Birthplace reduces energy consumption

Abraham Lincoln Birthplace National Historical Park has made some important changes that are reducing energy consumption — and saving money.

In 2010 park staff converted all lighting in the park to Light Emitting Diodes (LEDs). This reduced the amount of electricity used at the park by about 8,000 kilowatt hours. The park saved about $1,300 in electrical costs for 2011.

“Lighting can be the single biggest user of energy in our homes or offices,” Park Superintendent Bill

Justice said. “Making energy smart choices in lighting can save energy and money.”

The park has installed programmable water heaters in the park housing units that monitor water use and adjust water temperatures accordingly. These units can also be programmed to run in an efficiency mode when the units are not occupied. New heating, ventilation and air conditioning systems with a Seasonal Energy Efficiency Rating (SEER) of 21 have been installed in three facilities to include the housing units. These units are 95 percent energy efficient.

Park staff have made progress on reducing the amount of solid waste that goes to a landfill from the park. Staff members installed highly efficient hand dryers in all of the restrooms reducing the amount of paper towels used within the park by 1,800 pounds per year. The park has installed recycling containers by all trash cans, increasing the amount of recyclables collected by 40 percent.

Introduced plants can cause problems

Many plants classified as weeds are not native to the United States. Most have been introduced through travel and trading in commerce with other parts of the world. Here are a few of the better known non-native weeds we now find locally.

Musk thistle, also known as nodding thistle, is a native of Europe and Asia was first discovered in the Mammoth Cave area in the 1940's. Today, musk thistle is widespread across Kentucky and each year farmers, landowners and roadside maintenance crews spend a significant amount of time and money to combat its growth and spread.

Johnsongrass was introduced in the 1800s as a forage crop. Currently, this plant is one of the top 10 problematic weeds throughout Kentucky and the south. Specific herbicides have been designed for control of it.

Multiflora rose was originally introduced for use as a living fence and wildlife cover. This highly invasive species now inhabits pastures, desirable landscapes and wasteland areas. Similar rapidly spreading ornamentals that have escaped from landscapes include Japanese knotweed, bush honeysuckles and Star-of-Bethlehem.

Kudzu was introduced as an ornamental plant in the late 1800s. Kudzu is a major problem in many areas of the south due to its aggressive nature. It also is a host plant for Asian rust, a potential disease problem in soybeans. Again, considerable costs and control efforts are initiated each year to combat the spread of Kudzu.

Many of these introduced plants spread easily and aggressively from one location to the next. They crowd out and suppress the growth of more desirable vegetation. This can alter habitats and also cause losses and a reduction in quality for crops and forages.

Introduced weeds can be escapes from landscape planting, so homeowners should avoid these problems with careful thought and planning. Learn the characteristics of plants you intend to add to your landscape.

Volunteers sought for water quality monitoring, training on April 28

The Kentucky Watershed Watch Program is offering free training to persons interested in learning how to take water samples and monitor water quality in the Upper Green River Basin.

The training will be 8:15 a.m.-5 p.m. Saturday, April 28 in Room 2134 of the Engineering Biologic Science Building, 1500 Chestnut Street on the Western Kentucky University campus in Bowling Green.

Participants are advised to dress for field work, since some of the training will take place at a local stream.

Volunteers will be taught to take qualified water samples that will be analyzed by a professional laboratory. They will also learn how to collect basic water quality field data.

"No previous experience is required to become a Watershed Watch volunteer," said Dale Reynolds, Kentucky Division of Water coordinator of the Upper Green River Basin. "We welcome anyone who is willing to pitch in to help protect the waterways of their community."

Watershed Watch volunteers in the Upper Green River Basin participate in three annual sampling events in waterways that flow through Adair, Allen, Barren, Breckenridge, Butler, Casey, Edmonson, Grayson, Green, Hardin, Hart, LaRue, Metcalfe, Monroe, Simpson, Taylor and Warren counties. The May samples are tested for pesticides and herbicides, the July samples for pathogens and the September samples for metals and salts.

"Volunteer activities help scientists understand the effect that weather and land use have on local water bodies," said Paulette Akers, manager of the DOW Watershed Management Branch. "The information they provide allows Kentucky to have an extensive database of current water quality information."

Prospective participants are asked to register for the April 28 training event by visiting the Kentucky Watershed Watch website at <http://eppcapp.ky.gov/watershed/> and clicking on the Watershed Watch Event Registration button in the lower left-hand side of the window. Then check the "Enroll" box for GRWW Combined Training Workshop - WKU and at the bottom of the page click on the "Submit Registration" button.

The training is co-sponsored by the Kentucky Division of Water, the Virginia Environmental Endowment, the Upper Green River Watershed Watch, the City of Bowling Green Public Works Department and Warren County Stormwater Management. It is funded in part by a grant from the U.S.

Environmental Protection Agency under Section 319(h) of the Clean Water Act, through KDOW to Watershed Watch in Kentucky. For more information about the training and Watershed Watch in Kentucky, contact Dale Reynolds at 270-746-7475.

SCHOOL

Mentoring program a success at elementary school

At the start of this school year, Hodgenville Elementary principal Sue Osborne met with guidance counselor David Walters about starting a mentoring program for her students.

"I had seen it work in another district and had noticed how the students that participated looked forward to having a visit from another person in their life who took an interest in them and made them feel important," Osborne said. "I have seen such an improvement in them, not only in academics, but also in attitude."

Walters agreed with her that he'd love to see a program at HES and with that, he began working the telephone, seeking people of good character who would make good role models for students and yet who could relate to them.

The result was evident Wednesday as the school hosted a dinner for the 41 adult mentors and 43 students who have taken part in the mentoring program.

"David is to be commended for this process," said Sam Sanders, LaRue superintendent, who attended the dinner. "He's put a lot of work into this."

On Educating LaRue County

Ronnie Benningfield

Walters said that during their weekly visits, some of the mentors help their students with school work: math, reading and the like; but they also enjoy simply spending time with their young friends and talking.

Fifth grader Becca Smith takes a novel with her during the 30 or so minutes she spends each week with her mentor, Patty Edwards.

"After we do math and reading, I start reading The Tale of Despereaux, which tells about a mouse named Despereaux Tillings who falls in love with a princess," said Smith. "My mentor is very nice and helpful."

Brody Worthington, another fifth grader, likes to talk with his mentor, Claude Ramey, about his dog and his alligator pet, Kirstie.

"I really like to talk to him," Worthington said.

Mentor Charlotte Tucker sees life from a different perspective when she spends time each week with third-grader Kirsten Cummins.

"I have two boys at home and as I'm spending time with a little girl here, I'm seeing a different world and I love it," Tucker said.

The kids seem to like it, too.

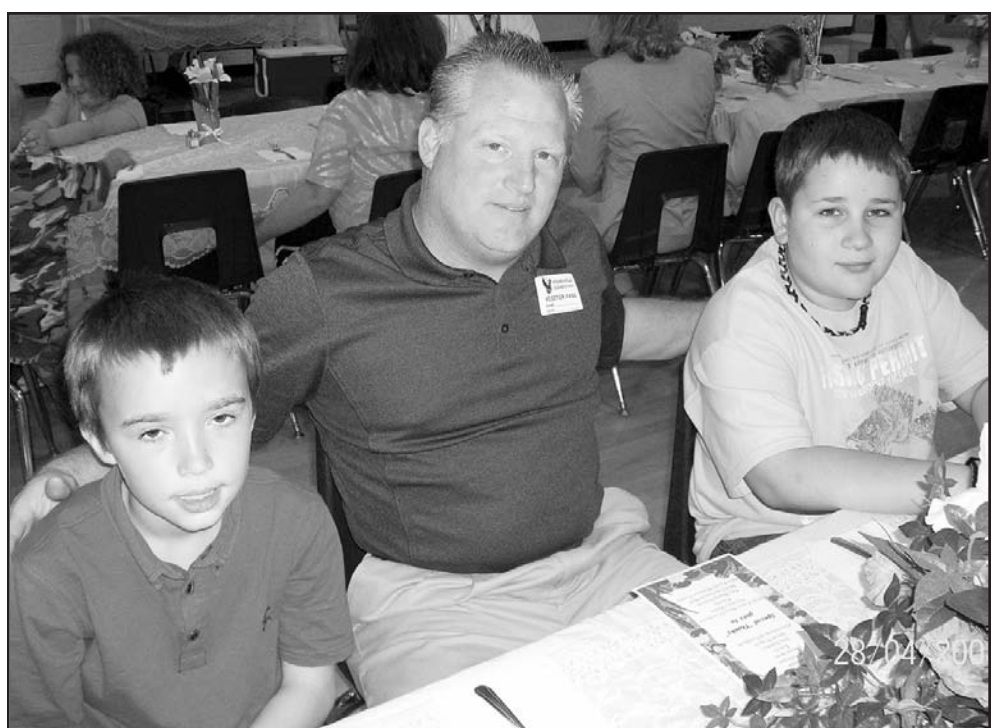

"They'll ask me if Mr. or Ms. So-and-So is coming today," said Osborne. "I've had some to tell me that they want their mentor to keep coming to see them until they graduate."

Though he's pleased with the program's success in its initial year, Walters isn't satisfied.

"I welcome other adults who are willing to spend time one-on-one with a student here," he said. "Some are apprehensive about the program before they start, but all have told me they really enjoy it once they meet the students."

His goal for next year is to have 100 mentors.

Other mentors include Melissa Adams, Joe Allen, Katie Cooper, Kathy Cravens, Terry Cruse, Billy Curle, James Curle, Bobby Dobson, Patrick Durham, Derek Ford, Phil Fulkerson, Leann Greenwell, Darla Harrison, Bill Hawkins, John Henderson, Carl Howell, Sharon Howell, Kim Knight, Mark

Camp Invention returning to Hodgenville this summer

Invent Now, Inc. is pleased to announce that its nationally-acclaimed Camp Invention program is returning to Hodgenville this summer. Camp Invention is a weeklong summer day program for students entering grades one through six. The program engages children to discover their own innate creativity and inventiveness through hands-on science, technology, engineering and mathematics (STEM) content.

"Camp Invention's reputation as a leader in high-quality summer programming has helped us to grow from a museum program impacting 300 children in 1990 to a national program impacting over 76,000 children," said

Michael J. Oister, Chief Operating Officer for Invent Now. "We have families who tell us Camp Invention changed their child's outlook on learning, and stories like those keep us inspired."

Each day, children rotate through four integrated modules that employ creative thinking to solve real-world challenges. Children learn vital 21st century life skills such as problem solving and teamwork through imaginative play.

Children will spend their week visiting a faux island to study magnetism, taking a fantasy adventure on the Ci6000 Space Modulator Time Machine, inventing a balloon-bursting machine and more. Even if a child has participated in the past, he or she will benefit from brand new adventures throughout the week.

Also launching this summer is the Counselor-in-Training program, ideal for Camp Invention "graduates" who are now too old for the program. These individuals will assist Leadership Interns with tasks and help to mentor participants. Counselors-in-Training will leave with volunteer experience and a step ahead of others when entering high school.

To register a child for these programs or to learn more about Invent Now programming, visit www.CampInvention.org or call 800-968-4332.

JAIL

who returned to the jail after being on work release or community service.

"He was trying to combat smuggling contraband in the jail by doing random checks," Johnson said.

Cottrill said Monday that the X-ray machine had turned up numerous items in previous uses.

On March 13, Purdam had returned from a work crew and his conduct around the X-ray machine "drew the attention of floor deputies." When they checked his coat, they found a slit in the lining where a pair of tubular packets were concealed. The tubes were joined by fishing line and a fish hook was used to secure the line to the outside seam of the jacket.

Purdum told jail deputies the tubes contained "spice," a synthetic drug, and rolling paper. Cottrill asked Johnson to investigate.

Johnson said Purdam admitted that he had picked up the drug and brought it into the jail.

"He would not give names but said there were several (inmates) who chipped in money and made arrangements to have (the drugs) dropped where they were working," said Johnson. "He was the mule — his job was to pack it in."

Purdum was charged with first-degree promoting contraband and second-degree persistent felony offender. Purdam was indicted April 16 by a LaRue County grand jury on the charges.

He had almost finished his previous sentence after being found guilty of complicity, cultivating marijuana; complicity, possession of drug paraphernalia; and complicity, possession of marijuana earlier this year.

Tobacco

During Johnson's investigation, he received information that a floor deputy was buying cigarettes, dip and other tobacco items and bringing them into the detention center.

Cottrill checked phone records at the jail and learned that Corcoran was placing "orders over the telephone" to Young.

In one call, Corcoran allegedly told Young to buy cigarettes because the floor deputies were "starting to smell the cigars" and they would "start looking" for them.

Corcoran was charged also with second-degree promoting contraband. He will be arraigned April 25 in LaRue District Court. Bond is set at $500.

Young is scheduled to be arraigned April 25 in LaRue Circuit Court. Her bond was set at $1,000 cash only.

Cottrill said Young had been employed at the Detention Center about a year before the alleged incident occurred.

"She was a real good deputy when she started out," Cottrill said. "But we can't afford to tolerate (contraband). It just causes problems when they bring it in. (Inmates) trade tobacco for phone cards or food."

Young has lost her job due to the allegations, Cottrill said.

According to Cottrill, local and state policies forbid inmates to have tobacco products inside the jail. And, jail employees are not to provide any type of contraband to inmates.

The cases against Corcoran and Young were heard also by a grand jury. The charges were sent back to district court as they are misdemeanors.

Assistant Commonwealth Attorney Whitney Meredith said the charges were of a sensitive nature "so we wanted the grand jury to make the call on whether these jail employees had committed a crime."

The indictment of a person is an accusation only and the person is innocent unless and until proven guilty.

DOWN

"I am humbled and honored to be selected from a pool of great candidates," Downs said. "I look forward to working with the school community to continue the tradition of excellence at ALES."

She and her husband Ed have three children — Will, 32, Eddy, 23, and Bryan, 13. She plans to move to LaRue County when they sell their home in Spencer County where they reside.

"I am excited about coming home," she said. "I am looking forward to renewing old friendships and making new friends. I had wonderful experiences growing up and going to school here. After all, there is no place like home. LaRue County has an excellent reputation for excellence and I'm proud to be part of that."

Downs said the new accountability system "Unbridled Learning" has developed new classifications for schools.

"Schools scoring at the 90th percentile will receive a distinguished rating," she said. "It is my goal to be a distinguished school. Another objective is to ensure that we are sending students to middle school well-prepared with a solid foundation in math and reading."

She sees an elementary principal's main role as ensuring academic excellence in a physical, emotional and socially safe environment. The person must guide staff and parents to make decisions based on what is best for students.

"An elementary principal needs to be flexible as one never knows what a school day holds," she said. "They have to provide support to staff to make sure they have the materials, strategies and resources to provide students with an outstanding education."

Downs intends to begin her tenure as ALES principal by getting to know the staff individually.

"It is important to me to know about a person so that I can truly understand them," she said.

At Clear Creek, the staff has get-togethers outside of school and a monthly luncheon at school to celebrate birthdays.

"One way to support staff is to be available to listen to them and provide suggestions and guidance when needed," Downs said.

She also is a firm believer in the team approach.

"I will rely on the SBDM council to make policies that will ensure we will meet the goal of being a distinguished school," she said. "If we keep the best interest of our students at the center of each decision, it should be easy to reach consensus."

She describes herself as a servant leader and collaborative leader.

"My role is to support the teachers as they are on the front lines so we can meet the individual needs of our students," she said. "I like input from all sides so that we are making a sound decision. Sometimes when decisions are made we will have to agree to disagree, but if you listen to all sides, people are easier to accept if a decision doesn't go their way. Often times they just need to be heard."

She likes to include parents and volunteers at her school. Clear Creek holds math and reading nights for each grade level, a back to school night, reading events during the day (reading with grandparents, reading with mom and reading with dad).

Her school welcomes volunteers to help with copying, bulletin boards, and reading with students.

"Parents are encouraged to go on field trips," she said. "We also provide room in the cafeteria so that parents can eat with their children."

She is also cognitive of the different ethnic backgrounds of her students.

"We have a high number of Hispanics and African Americans at Clear Creek," she said. "We have had a Latino Night and a night for our African American parents to kick off a tutoring program implemented at our school for them."

Downs' duties as principal of Abraham Lincoln Elementary School begin July 1. A reception that includes students, parents, and community members will be held before the start of the 2012-13 school year, according to Sanders.

TIME

"During the construction we realized that we were going to be covering the marker and decided to move it to the front of the ramp."

"I actually made the comment, 'I wonder if there is a time capsule behind here,'" said Votaw. "We were extra careful removing it (the marker) and there it was, right behind it."

The capsule, made of copper and lead, measures about 12 inches by six inches deep and was sealed at one end.

Most members have no recollection of the time capsule; others claim to have "vague" memories. Some remember the dedication ceremony but nothing else. Either way the finding has brought a renewed sense of fellowship to the members, past and present, of Wesley Meadows.

For nearly an hour last Wednesday, several people poured over the contents found in the capsule, reliving old memories. Some pointed at photographs, including their parents who have since passed away. Nancy Lee, formerly an Allen, reminisced over a photo of the church congregation at the dedication ceremony.

"There I am right there," said Lee, as she pointed herself out in the photo. "I was here, that was a long time ago ... I can remember being here and remember when they put the capsule in, I just forgot about it... that's been 50 years ago you know." According to Lee, who had previously attended both Jericho and Oak Grove Methodist Churches, it was an exciting day, but she can't remember "much beyond that."

The capsule was appropriate, considering the church's rich history and heritage. Contents included photos, the deed contract, a bible and consent sheets to close Buffalo and Jericho Methodist Churches.

According to Votaw, any time a Methodist church closes, the members must agree.

The significance of the documentation lies in the merger. Buffalo and Jericho churches closed to form what is now Wesley Meadows in 1960.

According to church documentation, Lucretia Begley, wife of the first pastor of the church, Reverend John Begley, created the name. She based the name on the founder of Methodism, John Wesley, and the church's rural setting in the meadowlands.

In the beginning, the newly created congregation worshiped out of a large tent located upon the property where the church now stands. It was said the purpose of this was to get people excited about the new church building.

Shortly after the completion of the church, which is located at the intersection of Hwy. 210 and 470, another church, Oak Grove Methodist, closed its doors and joined the congregation in 1965.

The three churches each have a story, perhaps the most unique

John Poteet looked over documentation found inside the time capsule at Wesley Meadows Church. Poteet pointed out several photos and even found his name listed on a church bulletin. Poteet has no recollection of the time capsule being placed.

being that of Buffalo Methodist.

Buffalo Methodist was organized some time before the Civil War, according to church documentation, and was used as a hospital for sick and wounded soldiers. Some soldiers that died were buried in the cemetery adjoining the church. Tombstones in the cemetery have been repaired and refurbished in recent years, and a flagpole and sign have been erected.

According to Votaw, the church plans to hold a ceremony marking their 50th anniversary this year, possibly in the fall. At that time the contents of the capsule will be placed back inside the container, along with new photographs and a letter explaining when the capsule was found and why it was opened.

Until then, the contents are on display under glass inside the church.

"It really was lost in time," said Votaw. "One more generation and it would have been gone ... no one would have known."

According to Votaw the main project of ramp construction is expected to be completed in under a month.

"If it wasn't for the church members coming together, there is no way we could have done any of this," said Votaw.

An excerpt from a Fellowship News Letter of Buffalo and Jericho Methodist Church found in the capsule read, "We live in a nuclear age when everything about us is advancing rapidly. The Church of our Lord cannot stand still. It must advance 'like a mighty Army.' What our church does for Christ depends upon what YOU do for our Church!"

"You know times are hard and they have really stepped up and said 'we want to help make a difference'...I think the same spirit they have now is the same they had then," added Votaw, as he pointed to a photo from

Residents eligible for sales and use tax relief

Victims of the Leap Day storm are eligible for some immediate tax relief. On April 16, Gov. Beshear signed into law the provisions of House Bill 255 which provide a refund of sales and use tax paid for building materials permanently installed in the repair or replacement of buildings damaged in counties covered under a federal disaster relief declaration. The legislation is retroactive to provide tax relief for property owners in the 23 disaster counties, including LaRue County, affected by the storms in late February and early March. The Kentucky Department of Revenue is working on an emergency administrative regulation to provide additional guidance on the sales and use tax refund process, so please continue monitoring this website for updates. Telephone assistance is available at 502-564-5170. Forms for property owners who have completed repairs or reconstruction of buildings damaged or destroyed in the disaster areas are available at <http://revenue.ky.gov/forms/cursalefrm.htm>.

The Kentucky Sales & Use Tax returns (forms 51A102, 51A102E, 51A103, 51A113) are not available online or by fax. The forms are scannable forms for processing purposes. If the original is lost, call 502-564-5170, or visit one of the Department of Revenue's offices for replacement.

New motorcycle license test begins May 1

The Kentucky State Police Driver Testing Branch will begin using a new rider skills test for motorcycle operator's license applicants on May 1. Developed by the Motorcycle Safety Foundation, the new test is designed to better determine if operators possess sufficient safety skills for riding motorcycles in traffic. The new test expands Kentucky's current motorcycle skill test from two to four exercises, which must be completed on a closed course and evaluated by a KSP driver's license examiner. The exercises include: left turn/normal stop; cone weave/right turn from a stop; quick stop and obstacle swerve. The changes apply to both two-wheel and three-wheel motorcycles tests. Updates regarding the new test have been made to the Kentucky Driver's Manual, which is available online at kentuckystatepolice.org under the Driver Testing Branch link. A video about the new test will be available at YouTube.com in the near future. KSP will offer a free, three-hour, classroom-based, motorcycle safety seminar taught by a certified MSF RiderCoach on 6-9 p.m. May 17. To register for the seminar, visit the KSP website at http://www.kentuckystatepolice.org/pdf/registrationform_2012.pdf.

The agency will also host its fifth annual Motorcycle Safety Day awareness program 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. June 22. The event includes safety exhibits, motorcycle vendors, a news conference and a police-escorted ride through scenic rural areas. To register for the program, visit www.kentuckystatepolice.org.

Mullins interviewed for KET program

Rita Muratalla, KASA president elect and principal of Zoneton Middle School in Bullitt County, and Paul Mullins, KASA vice president and principal of LaRue County High School were recently interviewed for a special program airing on KET during education month. Both administrators represented KASA during the KET interview about valuing teachers in Kentucky schools. Although the questions were centered on administrators valuing the teachers in their schools, Muratalla and Mullins were the only active administrators among those interviewed. Both administrators feel very strongly about valuing their teachers and in turn better serving the students. "I see our teachers as the most influential and most important people in shaping the lives/futures of our children in the commonwealth. Their level of dedication and preparation, along with being on the front line and helping our students succeed each day, is crucial as we raise educational expectations in Kentucky. As administrators, we need to support our staffs with resources, relevant professional development, and coaching/mentoring and to foster an atmosphere of collaboration while challenging everyone to reach new heights," Mullins said.

The program aired April 23 on KET.

Daisy Troop plants roses

Submitted photo

Daisy Girl Scout Troop 1106 planted a knockout rosebush April 21 at Sunrise Manor Nursing Home. This planting fulfilled their take-action project for the 2011-12 school year. The Girl Scouts also met the requirements to earn their "make the world a better place" petal and the "Golden Honey Bee Award." Before they planted the rosebush, which was donated by Lee's, they showed it to all of the residents since the weather prohibited the residents from being able to come outside. A marker was also placed beside the rosebush to mark the occasion. Front from left, Donna Thompson, Kayla Maupin, Cameron 'Cami' Pendleton and Samantha Perkins; back, co-leader Staci Maupin and leader Annette Perkins. ROCKET the dedication they put into building the rocket and how enthusiastic they've been," said Hanson. "It's great to teach kids who are so enthusiastic about what they're learning."

The project has taken several weeks to complete as they've researched, rebuilt and fine-tuned the rockets. Much of the testing was done through a rocket simulation program, Lee said.

"We were pretty confident of the design before we started building," he added.

One of the biggest challenges the team faced was finding time for the students to work together. They are all busy with extracurricular activities including work, sports or academic teams.

"That's why it took so long (to complete the rocket)," said Firquin. "We're all involved in other things."

Canter said the rocket plans were downloaded from the Internet but the rocket itself was "built from scratch."

For competition purposes, the rocket had to be three-feet-long and reach an altitude of 800-feet with flight duration between 43 and 47 seconds. It must carry a payload of two raw hen eggs and return it safely to the ground.

"We've had our failures," said Lee.

On one launch the ejection charge did not work and the rocket fell from 800-feet without benefit of a parachute. Half the rocket was a loss. Schaefer described how the small lead weights used inside the frame to adjust altitude "went everywhere."

The eggs didn't make it either.

When the parachute works properly, it slows the rocket so much that the eggs, wrapped in cotton balls and plastic wrap, usually remain intact, according to Firquin.

The junior members of the team already have committed to competing again next year.

"The whole experience has been great because so many of us are looking into careers in science," said Canter.

Before the team could compete, they needed a mentor. Jesse Sims, a National Rocketry Association sponsor in Hart County was available.

"(Sims) has been very helpful in guiding them," said Hanson.

On April 1, the team's launch of 812-feet in 47 seconds qualified them to compete at nationals. Sims documented the flight and Hanson signed off on the project.

Sims, who has sponsored teams for eight years, said LaRue's success came because they "kept their design simple."

"They listened to me very well and worked well together," he said. "They've got a pretty good shot. If they can get a couple more practices in they'll have as good a shot as any."

It's impossible to predict all the factors, including barometric pressure and wind speed, that will impact the model rocket launch in Washington, Sims said.

Sims is sponsoring two Hart County teams, as well as LaRue's, at nationals.

"I'd like to see one of them get in the top-10," he said, adding that one of his teams has taken 10th before.

LaRue's team needs about $2,500 for lodging and rocket parts for the Washington trip. Paden has already contacted several local organizations requesting financial sponsorship.

The students also will have a chance to tour the Capitol and visit the Smithsonian, monuments and memorials.

If you would like to assist the team, contact Hanson at 766-7541 or email rex.hanson@larue.kyschools.us.

The Team America Rocketry Challenge is sponsored by the Aerospace Industries Association and the National Association of Rocketry. The competition is May 12.

Winning teams are invited to an international competition in Paris and the top-20 teams share a total of $60,000 in cash and scholarships.

Other Kentucky teams competing are from Butler County and two from Hart County 4-H.

intent to deprive the owner of its use by keeping it himself. Darst altered the appearance of the motorcycle in an attempt to mask its identity by the owner," according to the release.

Chaffins said he isn't sure when Darst allegedly recovered the motorcycle.

"That's part of the ongoing investigation," Chaffins said.

McCoy said the motorcycle was better described as an unlicensed dirt or trail bike. It is valued at more than $1,000.

Darst had been on medical leave for several months but came back to work for a short period in 2012, McCoy said.

Darst was put on paid administrative leave pending the outcome of the investigation.

Since then, he has been relieved of duties, according to McCoy.

Darst was a former employee of the Grayson County Sheriff's Department.

He will be arraigned in LaRue District Court.

The investigation is being conducted by Detective Terry Whittaker.
